

COMBATTING COVID-19 ON PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

COVID-19 is attacking people, the economy and public transportation to the point of bankrupting the system. Yet public transportation is essential to the recovery from this worldwide attack on civilization.

- ‘It could take years’: Slow recovery predicted for public transport
- Sound Transit, other major transit agencies unite in call for federal funding to offset COVID-19 losses and fuel economic recovery
- CA Transit Association Asks for Help to Stave Off Transit Collapse

Transits are being asked to do MORE with LESS resources.
ELERTS partners with transit authorities to ensure:

Employees and passengers feel safe.
Operator confrontations get reported.
PPE is discarded appropriately.
Mask violations are addressed.
Hand sanitizer dispensers stay fully stocked.
And much more...

You can only fix what you know about. Use ELERTS mobile safety hazard reporting to receive COVID-19 issues directly from employees and passengers.

SAFETY is the key to farebox recovery. Restore public confidence with ELERTS.

- 👁️ COVID-19 Issue
- 📍 Train or Platform to Terminal/Concourse
- 📢 Sanitizer not working by train in terminal

See how Denver International is fighting COVID with ELERTS